I am a social designer and visual communicator living and working in the Bay Area. I have worked within public service organizations to utilize human-centered design for causes ranging from education, to healthcare, to government. My work advocates for users and values context by creating meaningful and conscientious solutions.

San Francisco Recreation & Parks — Designer

January 2017 - present

Designed inclusive illustrations, animations, and digital products for government. Improved outreach material and strategy through design. Consulted on web design and advocated for accessibility, ease of use.

Center for Design in the Public Interest — Jr. Specialist

March 2015 - June 2016

Presented work to medical practitioners. Communicated public health related concepts through illustration and animation. Integrated graphic design with audio and script-writing to create a multimedia experience.

ASUCD Creative Media — Graphics Lead

January 2015 - March 2016

Provided mentorship for a team of 5 Graphic Designers. Coordinated interaction and work flow between Graphics, Marketing, and Programming departments. Facilitated team-building exercises.

Design for America at UC Davis — Studio Lead

January 2015 - June 2015

Connected local organizations to problem solving teams. Translated concepts of design-thinking in workshops for application beyond design. Taught human-centered design to multi-disciplinary teams.

University of California, Davis — B.A. in Design with Honors (3.91)

September 2012 - December 2015

Represented student challenges in department Task Force to strategize degree improvements. Built resources that helped faculty to oversee student led design research projects and taught students research skills.
